Description:

SolarSPELL seeks 1-2 part-time Communications and Marketing Aides to assist with telling SolarSPELL's story to our diverse audiences, including but not limited to ASU students and partners, international partners, and domestic supporters. "Telling the SolarSPELL story" may include foundational information about the SolarSPELL initiative, project updates, new innovations, student stories, and bids for support in the form of donations or volunteer efforts. There is room in this position for creative input from the student aide in all aspects of SolarSPELL's communication and marketing efforts. As an innovative initiative within ASU, the #1 school in innovation, we welcome student input.

This position is perfect for a highly self-motivated, creative student with career aspirations to work on a fast-paced, professional marketing team.

SolarSPELL is an educational initiative at Arizona State University that combines appropriate technology, relevant content, and local capacity building. We work to build internet-ready skills and improve educational opportunities around the world. Our offline digital library is designed to bring educational content to resource-constrained locations that may lack electricity, Internet connectivity, and/or traditional libraries. The SolarSPELL library emits an offline WiFi hotspot, to which any WiFi capable device (smartphones, tablets, laptops) can connect and browse the expansive content for free.

More information on SolarSPELL can be found here: <http://solarspell.org>

Interns will be expected to attend a new intern orientation upon the start of the internship.
